“ Masie Wasie - I always loved visiting you at the lake. We had so much fun and I cherish all the memories we made there. It's funny in our family your home was considered "The Lake". I loved when you would say you were going to make us homemade biscuits in the morning. I also loved the "kids" table you had for us when we were little. I will never, ever forget how you always said to me "I've got biscuits and real but-ter just for you Ang". That was so sweet. I even remember visiting at Long Boat Key when Pok ate the Reese's egg. And how could any of us forget how much fun you and Sara were as a team. I loved to tell everyone that you guys always went shopping together and you two were actually "hip" with all of your clothing, down to your shoes! And I won't mention exactly when you change your sheets, but we all remember. I'm glad you made it so far in life, 89, with no real illnesses to speak of. You were a crazy grandmother to have. I was always telling stories about you to my friends. You always had something funny or inappropriate to say or both. May you rest in peace Ma, I love you and will certainly miss you. P.S.- I really missed your red hair.##imported-begin##Angie Redder##imported-end##

“ Oh Ma. You taught me so much. Best of all, you showed me it's okay for a woman to speak her mind and be assertive. I used to love to be in the kitchen with you. That's where I learned to love to cook. Joe certainly appreciates that I can make fabulous green beans, corn bread and biscuits. I'll never forget all the times at the lake and you dancing. Your pickles. You always called me Kell. And we just never knew what funny thing you were going to say. I'm glad you had such a long life with such a big family to love you. You were a unique lady. I will miss you.##imported-begin##Kelly Cowan##imported-end##

“ Ma, I will always remember the way that my kids loved you. You have always been very special to them and to me. Even if you and Aunt Sara were considered to be one (MASARA). You will truly be missed by our whole family. I hope that you were met in heaven by Pok, Uncle Red, and Caleb. I love you.##imported-begin##Mandi Sorohan##imported-end##
