“ Loosing my Mom somehow makes me feel like a child again.

It is not uncommon for young soldiers who are wounded and dying on a battlefield to, in their final moments, have a vision of their mothers and whisper to them, "Mom ?"

Over the past few years she gradually lost recognition of me when I visited, from Alzheimer's. Medical scientists are on the right path to find a prevention for this more and more common condition. They have recently found a medicine that works, but it's not safe enough yet for doctors to use. But it's not too far away.

I'm sorry Mom. I'm so sorry we couldn't save you.
