“ Billy, I am saddened to learn that you have lost your wife. Words are difficult to find at times and certainly when a wife is gone words just seem so hollow, but, words are all we have and they are offered from a caring heart. I send you my words and hope that in the days ahead you can find a bit of comfort from those who are with you and from their words. In the meanwhile, I will offer prayer for your well being and Peace as it can be found in the days ahead.
