“ there are so many memories that I can post that Bryan if was here would laugh. But he's not and he already knows how much I love him and wanted so much for him in life. I know he is looking down on everyone now with no hurt and no pain.I pray for his family and his child that is on the way. I wish he could have experienced having and holding his own child. I would have loved to see the look on his face. We love you and will miss you
