“ One thing I remember most about Cathy is when we play cards and she would start to lose, she would say it was not good for her constitution. The other thing we joked about before she died was how she tried to steal Frannie boyfriend. Cathy will be deeply missed, but we rejoiced that we will see her in heaven waiting to greet us.

“Cathy was my sister and friend. I will truly miss her. During this last 5 week journey, she walked with God's grace through it all; she laughed; she cried; she was concerned about us--the ones she was leaving behind. She fought hard and finished the race strong! Way to go, Cathy. You are truly an example to be emulated!!!

As I grieve our family's loss and celebrate her victory, (because I know she is in heaven rejoicing,) I think about how wonderfully she walked through life's journey. She gave so much of herself to those she nursed back to health; she comforted those who were dying, never letting a person 'die alone'. She made us laugh wearing her crazy hats--especially when she fought cancer the first time. She almost made us cry when she tried to play guitar and sing. Gosh, she couldn't carry a tune in a wheelbarrow. But, she loved to 'make a joyful noise' she would say. I can just see her now, singing and telling her jokes. Gosh, she has a whole new audience among the saints throughout the ages.

Cathy, yours was a life well lived. You had your priorities right. We now have a big hole because you are gone. See you again one day!!!

I love you!

“ Mrs. Fox, I am deeply saddened at the news of the loss of your sister. I know how much she meant to you from the tales you told us about your adventures together. Cherish the memories and draw strength from the knowledge that you will be together again in the presence of our Heavenly Father.
