“ At one time Chad gave me a four leaf clover that I had to carry with me everywhere. It made me feel his love and brought me luck. Now I will carry this clove with me always. I miss you terribly baby.

“ as I sit here trying to write this, I'm still too blown away to even think of the words to say; This isn't anything I saw coming so soon. Often when people get news of a loved ones sickness, they kinda take the situation lightly thinking nothing will ever go wrong or that person will always be around. But I wish I took everything more serious... I wish I were able to spend a little more time with you... That I were available to answer that last call... I'm sorry you had to go through this bro. You were always a good guy & in good spirits. Didn't matter what I was going through, I could always count on you to brighten up my mood by saying something absolutely moronic lol. No matter the situation at hand, it always seemed like you knew what to say to make it seem everything would be alright.... I just wish I could've done the same for you. RIP My brother from Another. I'll love you forever.

“ The purest love I'll ever know was shared between Chad and I. The depth of our love will be shared for eternity. My heart is broken for I am selfish. My Cletus will never be truly gone because he is apart of me. We always told each other we wouldn't be the same with out one another and I know that to be true in life and death. Chad has touched so many lives- insert inappropriate Chad joke... despite all odds he was so positive and the most adorably stubborn man I know. Chads ability to help others was his greatest pleasure in life. I will hold onto all the wonderful moments we've shared as I know the rest of his extremely large family will do. I have added pictures of Chad in our early years and our fur baby Junior Peanut Andrews who will be 9 this year. We have reminisced so much of those days I truly wish for one more.

Thank you Mr. & Mrs. Andrews for creating an amazing man with a heart of gold. I love you!

Ken and Joann,

Fred and I were deeply saddened to hear about Chad. We cannot imagine what you are going through as nothing can prepare you for the lose of a loved one. We are thankful we were able to again enjoy his company at the lake even if for a short time. You are in our thoughts and prayers and we are here for you if you need anything at all.
