“ Walking down that red clay road from Charlotte's house to the Bethea house. Hours of playing kick the can, sitting in trees. We loved the outdoors. We loved picking blackberries for pies. Grabbing plums. Watching for rattlers. So many memories. Her mom and dad and siblings were good to us. A cousin that, I am sure, poured her life into being there for others. All those years riding the school bus. Would not trade a minute if it. We were blessed. Condolences to all who knew her.
