“ My condolences to the family. Kris and I were good friends in junior high school. We had a bit of a falling out but now I realize time heals all wounds. I feel bad that I held a grudge for so many years over something so silly. I did love her dearly and still do or I wouldnt be writing this. Her death made me think about my own life and how lucky I am. I hope for the best for her kids and family.##imported-begin##sheila##imported-end##

“ Kris and I were best friends during some of her years in Aberdeen. We took jazz dance together and I have many memories of staying at her house. Her family was always very kind to me. There was a time when Kris really needed a friend and I tried to be there for her. When she moved, the distance between us was difficult but necessary. My thoughts and prayers are with her family and I hope to run into Kim so that I can express my condolences personally.###imported-begin###Llisa Sahli Carlsen###imported-end##

“ Unlike most who have signed the guest book I'm not a new friend. I knew "Kris" many years ago. We worked together at KMart in Savannah. She was younger than me but we were good friends. She was always so very sweet and never said a bad word about anyone. My prayers are with her family. Rest in peace, Kris.##imported-begin##Sheila "Hargrove" Gremillion##imported-end##

“ *In loving memory of Christy. She came to work at CSH almost a year ago because she wanted to help others to make their lives better. She always could bring out the goodness out of a dark cloud when no one else could see the goodness. Christy always had a listening ear for others even when her work was getting behind. She never talked about her problems with many because she always remained focused on her mission to help others. Only Jesus knows what's best for all of us. He knew that Christy had struggled and she was tired of fighting the battle. Jesus made the decision that it was time for her to go home into his loving arms. We can rest assure that she will have no more pain or suffering; only peace and joy. To the Hohne - Pratt Families, Christy often spoke of the support that her family gave her during her struggles. She knew that she was loved and she gave love in return especially to her loving children. Christy will always remains in our hearts because she was that unique loving individual. “ Sallee & Bob - I offered Mass today that you will have the grace and strength to get through this tragedy. I can only imagine how you feel. Kris is at peace in the arms of our Blessed Mother. Just know that you were the greatest, most exemplary and caring parents that anyone could have wanted - Kris knows that.
May the good memories always be foremost in your hearts and minds.

“ My deepest sympathy goes out to the family and friends of Christy. I've only known Christy since February of 2008 and enjoyed every minute we shared together. She was a nice, kind-hearted, caring woman who has left a footprint in my heart. The news of her passing shocked me and I still find it hard to believe. Although she is gone in the flesh she will certainly not be forgotten.

“ My thoughts and prayers are with Christy's family. Even though she often called herself Kris, I'd always forget and call her Christy because she was so feminine with her hair fixed so pretty and her make-up expertly applied. I enjoyed working with her at CSH. She was a very good nurse and always so kind and compassionate with the clients in her care. I enjoyed our talks and laughs. Rest in peace, Kris.##imported-begin##Pamela Ratajczak##imported-end##

“ I've only known Christy a short time. My prayers are with the family. I'm Very sorry and shocked to hear about our loss. I just wanted to let the family know that I have listened to Christy talk and when we talked it was mostly about her family. I know that she loved her family very much from listening to what she had to say. She spoke very highly of her family and was very outspoken about how much she appreciated them. She also talked with me about her children and how much she loved them as well. I am so very sorry and know this is a very hard time. Will keep this family in my prayers. I am very glad that I had the opportunity to meet Christy and I will miss our talks and her friendly personality.##imported-begin##Sandra Wren##imported-end##
