

Conrad Edward Douglas

August 29, 1938 - April 9, 2009

Douglas, Conrad Edward M., intellectual, humanist, musician, and artist, peacefully passed away, April 9, 2009 in Macon, Georgia. Beloved husband of Nance, son of James and Kathleen Douglas (both deceased), much loved brother of Mary (MacCon), Tony, Paul, and David, cherished brother-in-law to Liz, Marie, Carol Ann, and Kerry, loved Uncle to Ian, Karen, Laura, Ronan, Doug, Sean, Amanda, Sophie and Zachary, loved cousin to many through the Douglas and Fogarty families, and humorous, friend and wit to many, far and wide.

Conrad was loved by his wife's family: Virginia Page (Matt-deceased), Jenny, Franklin, Tracy, Tammy and family, John, Wayne, David Page and families, and friends around the world.

Conrad graduated with a Bachelor of Music from University College Dublin, Masters of Music, had completed coursework and was working on a dissertation for a PhD at University of Illinois. He taught at Mungret College in Limerick, Ireland. He taught Music Literature, Music History, various instruments at Georgia College. He was the conductor of the community/college orchestra until he retired. He was a participant after retirement.

Heartland Hospice became Con's last residence. If you would like to do something to honor Conrad, please make a donation to Heartland Hospice, 115 Arkwright Landing, Macon, Georgia 31210.

A Celebration of Conrad's life will be held in Milledgeville in the summer. Details for this will be announced in the newspaper at a later date.

“ I was a student of Conrad Douglas in the early 1970's when he taught Music History at Georgia College in Milledgeville. He was a dedicated professor and I can still see his unruly hair, his glasses sliding down his nose and the sandals he wore with socks (which was very unusual in Georgia in those days). The students delighted in his accent and found him both approachable and supportive. Et lux perpetua luceat eis##imported-begin##Julia Reed Padgett##imported-end##

“ Jeff, Olivia and I love you Nance and we loved Con, too. You both have been in our thoughts and prayers. Nance, we are continuing to pray for you. Please call on us at anytime. Knowing that Con is no longer suffering is our way of getting through this. We hope this brings you comfort as well but we know you miss him terribly.##imported-begin##The Jeff McAfee Family##imported-end##

“ I first met Con when he married Nancy. He is one of the few people I know that your instantly like and learn to love. Con had the ability to listen to everyone and make them believe they and what the were saying were the most important things in the world. Humanist is a great description of this kind and gentle man. I will miss him. Will##imported-begin##Will Atkinson##imported-end##

“ We were saddened to hear of Conrad's ill health and death. Although we hadn't seen him for 40 years, and have had only occasional correspondence since, we retain warm memories of our time together in Illinois, and of his wit, charm and generosity. Our sincerest condolences to you, Nancy and his wider family.##imported-begin##Warren and Carla Drake##imported-end##

“ Mrs. Douglas, I just wanted to let you know that I was thinking of you and wish the best for you during your time of healing. That is what I call it. Though your husband is not physically with you, he will always be with you. Therefore, it wasn't a total loss. It'll take time, but your time heals all wounds. At least that's what they say. I know that God heals all wounds. Anyway, I just wanted to let you know that I love you and thank you for being one of the greatest teachers in the world. I hope you remember who I am. It has been a long time.
Anyway, you're in my prayers.

“ We will sadly miss "the big leprechaun" who we remember as smiling, kind, good-humored, and the most gentlemanly of gentlemen. We like to believe he is finely home to his beloved Eire, playing beautifully as ever on his violin. We are so glad that he was a part of Nancy's life and that she was such an important and beloved part of his.##imported-begin##Janice and Phillip

“ Nance, I am thinking of you and your family. I was reminded of so many memories when I read about your and Con's families. He was such a wonderful person and I am so glad that you had him in your life and that he had you in his. I think of you often, especially when I ride by Ga Power and when I see The Little Mermaid. I look forward to attending the Memorial planned for Con. I will surely be a special one! Love to you!!##imported-begin##Angela Roberts##imported-end##

“ Con and I became friends many years ago, in the Music Library of the U of Illinois, where we worked for many happy hours side-by-side. I learned to trust his judgment, enjoy his kind and subtle wit, and to rely on his gift for language and his grasp of culture in its deepest, truest sense. We shared funny observations and serious ideas for many years, even as life and circumstances separated us. As with all who knew and loved him, we both will miss him dearly.##imported-begin##Vivian Ramalingam##imported-end##

“ Con evoked in me a desire to know more of my mother's Irish heritage, and created a in me and eagerness to visit Ireland. Con was surely "a gentle man and a scholar" and a musician of merit and a story teller of delightful dimension. Our lives are enriched by those we connect with in our lives; I am grateful that I met Nance and Con here on my home turf in New Hampshire, and through email and letters across the miles...Nance, send pictures of your Ireland journeys; keep in touch; share what you discover about life as you go forward from this turn...Namaste' --'Moon##imported-begin##Beffa Ommaya WyldeMoon##imported-end##

“ Con and Nance gave me the only piece of Ireland I will probably ever have. Therefore I will always feel that Irish gentlemen are all like Con...genuine, warm and filled with laughter that was a joy to hear. I was always Annie to him and I miss his laughter already. “ We were saddened to hear the news of Conrad passing, we met him briefly last Summer in Manorhamilton, Co. Leitrim, Ireland. He was a gentle, pleasant and distinguished man. He told us of his dream to return to this country and we are sincerely sorry that it was not to be. We will miss his well written letters and humorous comments and regret we did not get the opportunity to get to know him better. We would like to extend our sympathies to his wife Nancy and all his family.##imported-begin##Sharon And Barry O'Hagan##imported-end##
