“ Diane and I worked together at St Anastasia. We had so many laughs and were a great team. Only a few days into working together, I got locked into the office bathroom till Joe Bob came and took the door off to free me. I had been a couple of hours out of the classroom and as I headed back here comes Diane walking the kids to lunch. I'm like, "did you miss me?" She just did her usual dead pan, "yea, where were you?" From her getting her finger stuck in the Wet Ones container and me prying it out, to me opening a popcorn bag under the smoke alarm sending the whole school out into the rain. Boy, she was not happy to come back in to find me dry and warm while everyone else looked like wet rats as they came back in. Diane was beyond sweet and had a wicked dry wit that not everybody got but I sure did and loved her so much for it. I often teased her about she and Clyde's senior superlative of Cutest Couple but they really were. I will miss you D. But, I think of you happy in the arms of the other half of the Cutest Couple and smile.
