“ Beverly, we were your neighbors two doors down on Commodore, and met you only once. We are shocked to hear of Gene's death. I personally enjoyed many talks with him about his overseas travels, and he was an encourager for me to venture abroad and enjoy the world! He taught me how to convert currency! Tim always enjoyed helping Gene with whatever his needs were at the lake. A kind man, and we will never forget him. Many, many times I said to myself, "I should call Gene," after we moved from the lake. I regret not doing so. We had told him we would love for him to come visit us at our new place. We are both so terribly sad at the passing of a wonderful man. Joan Williams
