Its been 5 weeks today faye that you were taken away from us , they have been long weeks too. I miss you everyday sis ,its hard to believe that we will no longer see you on this earth smiling and laughing and sometimes fussing as usual when we had our family gatherings. They will not be the same because a part of us will be missing from here on out. We as a family are trying to be there for the girls and the grandbabies. We all share the same hurt and loss. Just the thought that people are allowed to harm others and take their family members from them is just horrific. It should not be allowed to happen. Death is every where now since we have lost you .There is so much evil in the world now people don't care about other human beings anymore. I know you are with daddy and morgan now and all our other loved ones in heaven. Everyone misses you , jenni had her first birthday without you ,so did logan we celebrated it with dinner and a cake with ice cream. It still wasn't the same without you there. I hope your at peace sis and I know I will see your smiling face again !! Just wanted to say a big Thank You to all the prayers and the kind words from everyone. We know faye was well liked and well loved by everyone she crossed paths with. Thank you for remembering my little sister. Please tell your loved ones you love them everyday ,hug them and show them you love them because you never know when you will last see them and be able to do this!! Missing you faye

“ Was loved by so many , such a special person . This was my baby sister , she will be missed but not forgotten no matter how much time passes . She was given the best send off that I could of ever imagined by all whom she knew . I am so appreciative of all those who showed up to pay their respects. , for all whom came by the house and brought food or paper products and all who thought of the grandchildren and brought them those special items , it was greatly appreciated and do unexpected. All of you were very kind , my sister touched so many lives in such a short time. A special thanks to Walmart for showing the love for my sister Faye. Our family says Thank You

“ My Faye Faye. My boo boo!! How am I supposed to do life without you? You were my rock! My best friend! We were each others shadow. When people seen us we were usually together getting into some sort of adventure! Oh our adventures!! I wish this were a nightmare that I could wake up from. You were the one who has drug me through losing Whit. Who is going to drag me through my bad days now? Who is going to make me laugh when the tears will not stop?? Who am I going to lay out at the pool with or have beach trips with? I have lost a huge part of me when I didn't have enough of me left to lose. Hug and love my Whit. Tell all our family and loved ones hello. Heaven gained a beautiful angel and I wish it were not true. My heart is shattered. I love you boo boo! Watch over us all. We are going to need strength in the days and months ahead. You were missed the second you left us. I love you to Heaven and back!
