“ Faye, I heard you had passed away and I was so sorry. We had so much fun staying together in school. Then you got married early so I only got with you every once in awhile. We slipped off to the beach one day and I was so blistered that I had to stay out of school a few days. I would go and see you at the nursing home as often as I could and now those days are all gone and I know you are glad to meet again with your Husband and will not have any more bad times. I will always love and remember you.

Faye and I grew up like sisters. Her dad and my mom were siblings. Our moms gave each other perms and loved their cigarettes back when they smoked. We played in the park in Sparta which was close by our homes. You and BB used to roller skate. Later in life You and I shared our Love for Jesus. Rest in peace girl and I will see you one day again. I love you and our precious memories.
