“ My thoughts and prayers go out to the family. My husband and I hadn't seen Frank in several years. Not since he had been unable to drive. He use to stay with us, when he would come back to Cincinnati. He will be missed .He was such a good hearted person, I know he is at peace now.

“ I knew Frank while he attended Central Georgia Technical College. He would often stop by my office for a chat. Frequently, he unofficially tutored other students with their math classes. He truly had a kind spirit and heart. I hope you find comfort in knowing that he shared that spirit with others.

“ To the family of Frank: I met him while working in a library. He was always busy learning - to just learn - and math just raised him to a higher level. He was tutoring young people at the same time. We talked many times about things in general, and he was a very animated and interesting person to me. I spoke to him last at WalMart in Milledgeville, it was good to see him. I enjoyed his company. May you be blessed and comforted, and may he rest in peace.

I met Frank about 3 yrs ago via a FB yard sale page. Went by and met him. He was really nice and told me stories behind several items he had for sale. He sure loved to talk. I could tell then he had some short term memory problems. His long term memory was vivid. Glad I got to meet him.

Dear Frank's Family and Friends:

*Frank was a kind, intelligent, caring man. We met more than 40 years ago in Wilmington, Ohio when he was my math teacher. We became friends and stayed in touch over the decades. Frank was one of the few people I could always count on to understand and care about me. Like millions of us, he battled mental illness with bravery and strength. He will be missed here but I trust he is in a much better place now. Peace to all,

Frank was a best friend during our high school. We enjoyed playing games together, arguing about baseball, and were together in our church youth group. Many wonderful memories. We saw each other rarely during our adult years but kept in touch. Frank had a caring heart, was smart, and was an interesting conversationalist. May God embrace him.
