“ Faye, I'm sad to hear this news. Fred was, like you, always very kind to me. We first met when he handled repairs on rental property for Mr Goodrich. I enjoyed our conversations very much. Whether it was current events, personal experiences or stories from the past he could always teach me something! He is a dear man who will be missed.

Peace be with you Faye, and your family.

“ It was a shock to read of Fred's passing. So many times I saw him and passed a few minutes with him at Goodie Gallery while he was waiting for Faye to arrive for lunch. Fred was a really interesting fellow with wonderful stories about so many things -- from his college days to trips to far-flung places. We would be speaking casually about something when suddenly he would share some insight about music or human nature. Always interesting. I will miss those times, and the many conversations at Music Club as well. He always seemed to pick up on deeper points in what I might be talking about that made me think a little more about things. Beth and I offer our deepest condolences to Faye and all of Fred's family.
