“ My sweet friend, Gene!! It's been at least 38 years, since I saw you last, but I've never forgotten what a special, sweet and kind guy you were!! You watched over me, made sure that I made it home safely from Justin's many a night! We had a blast!! Good times and good friends always at our table! Lots of laughter!! I haven't seen you since those Justin days, but I've thought of you over the years with fondness and wondered how you were. Anyone who knew you and was a friend of yours, knew and felt it. You were definitely as genuine as they get. God speed, my sweet, sweet friend from so long ago. We may not have seen each other but I'm thankful for your kindness, you being so sweet and watching out for me all those years ago. You were never forgotten. Prayers for everyone who knew you, love and will miss you. To know you was a blessing and your friendship a treasure. Thanks for the good times and memories.

“ I am so sorry to see this. I will always remember Gene’s smile and laugh. Very much like Patrick’s and their Dad’s. Gene was a delightful guy to work with and at the end of my shift I most always left with a smile and a laugh because of something he would have said. Prayers for Patrick and Gene’s whole family.

“ Memories of Gene from childhood on, shared by his brothers, Joe and Patrick. Jan, I came into your and Gene's family less than 20 years ago when Patrick and I married, but I am so glad that Rachel and I became part of the Donovan family. Gene was a devoted husband, stepfather, son, brother, and uncle. I will remember him fondly and with love, along with his many other family members and friends.

Sincerely, Pam

“ Geno,

As we age, we lose family and friends more frequently. That's the normal course of life, and to be expected. But I never thought I'd be leaving words for you here this soon (or perhaps ever, even).

In 27 years of friendship, you have been a cohort, confidant, pal, listener, assistant, companion, coworker and probably a few other great things that I left off. In those 27 years, I can't recall ever having been mad at you or wishing to dismiss your company or your conversation, you were just not the kind of person a guy would feel the urge to be angry with or want to go away. You were, in fact, one of the nicest, most understanding and patient people that I have ever met.

The Irish blood passed down to me, on the other hand, often seems to manifest itself in bouts of temper, volume and contentiousness that tends to drive people away, and yet you never complained or criticized me for being me. You were and will always be a true friend, in every sense of the word.

Along with the overall blessing of your friendship, I will miss specifically:

Endlessly discussing cars and hotrods and related topics, going to races, car shows, swap meets, etc. etc. with you, or just hanging out with you at our mutual friends' shops. I realize that life intervened in recent years and limited your ability to go on adventures very often, unfortunately, but I could always count on the bench racing and your interest in whatever I happened to be working on.

Your enthusiasm for trains and all things railroad related.

Your interest in collecting and various other hobbies and the many, many engaging and interesting conversations we have had over the years about same.

Your thoughtfulness and generosity. I have many interesting items, signs books etc. throughout my house that you gave to me over the years simply out of friendship and because you knew I would like them and value them.

To Gene's wife Jan, brothers Patrick and Joe (who I'm sorry that I have not ever had the pleasure of meeting), nephews (nieces?) stepchildren and all extended family and other friends, I offer my deepest and sincerest sympathy and condolences. Gene will be terribly missed.
