

J. Alan Gibson

September 20, 1963 - December 17, 2022

Alan lived his life among his family and friend in vivid color. He was a son, brother, uncle, and most of all a great friend.

Alan was gregarious, had a flamboyant personality, and made friends everywhere he went.

“Everyone who met Alan fell in love with him on the spot,” one friend said.

J. Alan Gibson died December 17, 2022, after a brave, long fight against cancer. He was 59.

Born September 20, 1963, in Tift Country to the late Dan Gibson and the late Maxine Brickle Gibson, Alan grew up in Chula, Ga. , and graduated at Tift County High. He studied at Abraham Baldwin Agricultural College, Valdosta State College and Georgia State College earning a degree in fine arts.

Alan lived most of his adult life in middle Georgia.

He was an artist. He was a painter, potter and graphic artist. His artistic works reside across the United States and Europe.

Alan worked as a graphic designer for The Union-Recorder, Macon Magazine and Macon Telegraph. He traveled the country redesigning Knight-Ridder newspapers before retiring.

He is survived by two brothers: Danny (Terri) of Macon and Brian (Judith) of Warwick, Georgia; and a sister, Dana, of Palmetto, Fla.; and his very close friend, Ronnie Peavy, and Ronnie's daughter, Kelli. He had six nieces and nephews and four great- nieces and nephews.

The family wishes to thank several special friends and caregivers who stood by Alan, helping and providing care as his physical body failed him, especially Ginger McCullough, Brian Burgamy, Colleen Peebles and Lejuana Maze.

A celebration of life will be held January 14, 2023, at the Peavy farm in Washington County, 3827 Smyrna Church Road, Sandersville, GA 31082 at 2 PM. Family and friends are invited to join.

“ I first met Alan when I served as the minister of music at the church he attended in Chula, GA. I remember him there as a funny, always helpful, reliable member of both the adult and youth choirs. Later, when I moved back to Georgia after years away, we ran into each other here in Macon. I was so glad to see him again and we had several opportunities over the years to meet and catch up and share old memories. I became impressed by his artistic ability and his resilience in the face of all that he was facing in his life. I am grateful for all that he shared with us in his all-too-brief life and will hold him in blessed memory.

“ Alan was always the life of the party! He lit up the room with his presence. I had the great opportunity to work with him at The Union Recorder many years ago, where we met and became lifelong friends, and I knew from the moment I met him that he was extraordinary. He was unlike anyone I had ever met or would ever meet again. He had a light inside him that shined so intensely that it radiated goodness and joy everywhere he went. I am honored to have been in his circle of friends. I will miss him dearly. The world will be forever changed without his footsteps being present. Goodbye my friend. My sincerest condolences to his family. Valerie Reid Thorpe

“ So sorry the world has lost a wonderful person and artist. I was able to work with Alan on a project at Georgia College, and he painted a mural in my kitchen when we built in 1994. When our house burned in 2007, I was able to salvage the part of the mural that had a dragonfly in it - my symbol on my business cards. I think of him every time i pass by it. Rest high, Alan.
