“ Lillian, Vanessa, Cindy, Cal, and family, I'm so sorry to read about the passing of Lamar. He will always be remembered and be special to me. I was scared of any deep body of water until I was in my teens, because I couldn't swim. I went with my Grandparents for a family visit (Jack & Myrtle) and my fear was taken away. Lamar taught me how to swim in Lake Sinclair. I trusted him. He assured me that he was not going to throw me in and make me sink or swim. I'll always remember him and value him and his kindness. I love y'all.

He was one of my favorite uncles. Such a great guy. I will miss him so much. It tears my heart out that he is gone so early in life. But he's up there looking out for everybody else that's down here with us.

“ The news of Lamar's death greatly saddens me! At Midway School he and I were good friends. During recess, we would play tetherball. For the uninitiated, the challenge consisted of punching a ball suspended by a rope from the top of a pole around the metal shaft, while the opponent (e.g., Lamar) punched it counter-clockwise. While we fiercely engaged as rivals, once the game concluded, our friendship was as strong as ever. To wife Lillian and sister Martha Ann (affectionately known as "Pudding") and the entire family, I offer my deepest sympathy and prayers in his death. May the grace of God sustain you in this time of need. C.W. Brown, Maryville, TN.
