“ I am so glad that I was able to attend Loretta's Service on Thursday. Loretta and I went to school together, however, we had not seen each other in years. I regret that because it was obvious to me that she was still the same sweet, beautiful person that she was in school and you can't have enough people like her in your life.. My heart goes out to Marvin Sr, Marvin Jr. and Michelle and all of the family. God will get you through this very difficult time. Stay strong and be there for each other.

“ Loretta was one of most soft spoken caring people I knew 🙏 She had such a contagious smile and a very distinct laugh that you knew was Loretta. she was a fighter with the best attitude about her illness. A true example for all. Her most treasured gifts were her children and her precious little granddaughter 🧒 To know Loretta was to love her, and I'm glad she was my friend over the years. Rest peacefully my friend 🌸 Karen. 🌸

“My Dear Sweet Sissy, I couldn't text you tonight or ask anyone to give you a hug for me. I miss you so much already. When I went to the house today, I found myself looking for you several times and turned to ask you where to find something and the emptiness was horrible. You know you were the best person I have ever known, because I told you many times. You never said a harm word about anybody. You managed to find something nice to say about anyone who was being belittled. You were definitely the peacekeeper and the one who found the good in everyone. You raised a family and worked hard. You set an incredible example for your children of how to love and laugh and be funny. You took care of grandmama when she needed you. You took care of granddaddy every day and they loved you dearly. You covered your beautiful granddaughter in love and you were a grateful Nana. You were a loving and faithful wife. Many people were blessed to call you friend, because being your friend really had meaning. You accepted family member's friends into the family quickly and made them feel welcome. When you became a part of our family, you sorted through all the crazy stuff and loved us all more than we ever deserved. You took care of us when we were sick and wiped away sad tears. You consoled us when we need it and fought for us when you felt we had been wronged. You celebrated our triumphs and grieved our disappointments as if they were your own. You accepted us and took us as your family. You taught us how to be better people.

We have been sisters for almost 40 years and I will never adjust to not having you here for me. I can't call and tell you about my day or text you and ask "do want to hear a funny joke?" and see you reply, "Yep". You will never send me another video or photo of Kennedy that easily sparked an hour conversation between us about the wonders of our "grands" and the amazing people they are. I will never hear you laugh or see you smile again in this world and that breaks my heart, because I am selfish. I will never hear you say "call us when you get home". No more potato salad, just because yours was my favorite. No extra sweet potato pie, just so we would have some to bring home for later and no more hugs. All of these things and more that we can no longer share, hurts so much. You will forever be my Sissy and I will always love you with all my heart. I am happy that we both loved Jesus and had the opportunity to discuss His word, His plan for us and to praise Him for our salvation. For that reason I know that we were more than just sisters here on earth, we are sisters in Christ and we have the promise of eternal life. With that promise I know you are in the presence of the Lord and you will be there with open arms when our Lord calls me home. I know if we could all love people the way you did and love Jesus with the total commitment of our entire hearts and souls and still face adversity in the way you did, humanity would be blessed beyond our wildest imaginations. You were a shining example to all who knew you of how to live life and be content with what you have. You never complained or said you felt bad, you were always more concerned with how someone else was doing. You hid your suffering so your loved ones wouldn't know and worry. You wanted us to be happy. You wanted to live life fully without any stigma. You thought you were a plain and simple person, but you my sister were so much more. You were a warrior on this earth and a princess, a daughter of the King. You will never again have to straighten your crown like in difficult times when it tilted a bit, now it will always gleam brightly and stand exactly in place. I know today you are singing "Amazing Grace" with the angels and praising God. You are enjoying loved ones who have gone on before. I miss you so, but rejoice that you will never again know pain. Your battle is over, you have won. You are home ❤️
