“ Our prayers to the Lord for comforting grace during this trying time. I have not seen Uncle Malvin in several years. I believe he acquired the turtle hunting skills from his father John as much as I enjoyed going turtle hunting and preparing turtle soup for all the children and grandchildren as we grew up. We're thankful that the Lord has blessed Uncle Malvin and Elaine to have a long life together.

There have been memories growing up with your family and one was Mr. Malvin's Turtle soup, at the time it didn't sound so good but it was great! May you all cherish the good memories of your family and may the Lord continue to be with you and bless you all. Denise and Eddie Renfroe

“ I really enjoyed working with Malvin at Brown Engineering , getting to know his family , and of course enjoying his turtle stew and hunting bounty on special occasions !
He wasn't real happy with Philip for hiring me , an unknown (taking me in is more like it) , times were tough , the crews , including Malvin , were on part time , due to the workload slowing down .
Thankfully that didn't last too long before we weren't sure how we were going to get all the new work done !
He was well respected , and deservedly so : knowledgeable , efficient , and just himself , whether it was with the crew , project owners , sub-contractors or suppliers . (And , I might add that Shane didn't fall far from the tree !)
My thoughts are with all of Malvin and Elaine's family , I know he is missed .
