“ I could not look at these pages until today. I have been waiting for the lord to send me the peace and comfort I needed so badly. Mom was the most wonderful Mother a child could want. We had a very strong bond. Had lots and lots of memories together. And lots of sadness together over the years as well. But it is a time like this when you truly know how special each and every memory is. These memories are the best, they are with you anytime you need them, not like having to find a photo album. I know the lord is taking care of her now all by himself. He is much better at it than I. I do thank the lord for every day I had with her, and I can honestly say that now I have no regrets. And yes, I would have done it all over again. And thanks to all the ones that have shown enormous support over the years. To my Mom, I love you endlessly and I will forever miss you. Be happy in your new, beautiful precious home. And I WILL see you again one day. Can hardly wait to see your new body and for you to speak with your new mind.

Your Daughter,
