“ Papa Marvin, I love you. I have fond memories of going fishing with you, even though I believe the only thing I caught with you on Lake Sinclair was a dead snake. You would never let me forget that :) Nor should you have, I still laugh thinking about it. I was so proud I thought I caught a bass only to quickly realize that wasn't the case.

As I got older, I always enjoyed talking to you about what I was working on as an engineer. You were always technical minded and were interested on the machines I was working on, which meant a lot.

Rest in peace. Gone but most certainly not forgotten.

*Love,
Jeremy*
