Although we lost touch with the family through the years, we were very much aware of and proud of the success of the two brothers. Our hearts are filled with much sadness of the passing of Russ. I'm blessed to have known Russ and to spend time with his beloved family, enjoying their tremendous love and musical talents. I have fond memories of Russ; several memories from a trip I took with him and another friend to the family mountain house. He was a good man and friend.

My favorite rendition of "The Land Down Under" was played by the Edwards family. I had the privilege of hearing this the first time at Mimi's lake house. That was back in 1999 or 2000. To this day, I can not hear the song without smiling and thinking of the Edwards men circled around jamming out to the tune. ♡

“ Our hearts are grieved for the loss of Russ. He was a kind and gentle person/caregiver to us and our animal family. The love and compassion he showed to them when we had to let them go was extraordinary and was very much appreciated. Below is a letter we sent to Russ in March 2014 in gratitude to him which pretty well sums up our feelings then and now:

Dear Russ,

I just wanted to drop you a note to tell you how much we appreciate the kindness and consideration you exhibited during the recent putting to rest a precious member of our family (March 7th). Ginger was with us for 16 ½ years and was such a sweet little girl.

When Don returned home he shared with me the kindness and professionalism that you showed during the final minutes of Ginger's life; this cannot be over emphasized. We have to say that you chose the right profession because you totally exemplify, not only a great veterinarian, but a compassionate one as well. Thank you so much.

Our thoughts and prayers are with his wife Rebecca and their two children, his parents Lee and Bo, his brother Bo and the entire staff at the animal hospital. He will be greatly missed.

“ I've been agonizing over what to say about Russ. I didn't know him well, but I certainly know his makeup. Some of us are born to be veterinarians, and we will do whatever it takes. It starts in grade school--do well to get into the college we want. Then it's do well to get into vet school, and then it's do well to graduate. For many, this is the culmination of a dream. For others, being the best veterinarian is the goal. I know Russ strove to be the best veterinarian he could be. We all struggle with the negatives. Sometimes, we can't see all the good we do because we can't get over that negative hump. Godspeed, Russ. Please know that you did a good job. Damn good Dawg!

“ I have no idea where to begin or even what to say about your and the planet's loss of Russ. I've known him since high school and, although younger than I, always had immense respect for him and the unusual feeling that I was in the presence of some kind of greatness when I was close to him; almost like I was benefitting somehow just by being near him. Everything about Russ was unfailingly infectious. I'm at a loss for sufficient words of comfort to offer...and I'm a hospice nurse! The cliché words of empathy and condolence seem almost absurd to me regarding the circumstances and the person. Dr. (Lee) Edwards, I probably know you best, and there's not a doubt in my mind that you helped raise wonderful, beautiful children that affected every person, animal, and anything with a soul, leaving them with a sense of comfort and ease not present before. I feel so deeply for ALL of the Edwards family who lost a seemingly perfect son, brother, husband, Daddy, and uncle. Somewhere in the universe shines a brilliant new star...

“ Russ and I went to vet school together. I don't think I would have made it through my equine rotation without him. I remember he volunteered, in his humble way, to be in charge of the meanest horse in the barn. The rest of us small-animal track kids had no chance with that horse, and Russ wasn't the kind of guy to pass the buck. And even after that horse injured him, he was back in her stall just hours after his own visit to the doctor. Brave, kind, thoughtful. I haven't spoken to him since we left school 11 years ago, but I think of him often as an example of how self-sacrificing and brave veterinarians are. It broke my heart when I heard of your passing last night. Rest in peace Russ. The world is less today for your absence.

Russ was the first person I met during out freshman year of vet school. I remember striking up a conversation about fishing at our Freshman Picnic in Athens. We sat next to each other all through our freshman year...sharing all the ups and downs and trading hunting and fishing stories in between. I spent many nights hunting hogs with him on his family's leased farm in Milledgeville. You will never find a more outstanding individual than Russ. His personality and charm was infectious. My thoughts and prayers go out to his wife and children as well as his mother, father, and brother. We will miss you, Russ.

“ Bo and Lee, There are no words to express my sorrow at this moment...Russ was such an incredibly gifted individual and we are all diminished by his loss.

My favorite Russ memory goes back to 1997 and the National Beta Club convention: watching Russ, my Randy, Christie, and the rest of that incredible group of kids performing "Alpha Beta Gumbo" in front of over 3000 Beta Club kids....one of my favorite memories of my whole life and how I will always remember your dear son.

My heart is broken for this family! Russ was a wonderfully bright and sincerely kind student in the Advanced Placement English class I taught his junior year at BHS. His smile and good-natured outlook was always such a joy. I have been so pleased over the years to hear so many of his clients say how gifted he was as a veterinarian. My prayers are lifted that God will bring peace and strength to his family, friends, co-workers, and clients. I can only say that I believe that some truly gentle and noble souls simply cannot tolerate the pain of this worldly home. Russ had such a big heart, and he will be remembered with fondness and respect.

“ Words cannot express my sorrow. Not only have I lost a great vet, the world lost a very good man. My sympathies to his wife and family, to his mother, Dr. Lee Edwards, and to his staff and colleagues at The Animal Hospital. When my 19yo cat, Treppie, was suffering at the end of her life, Russ came by my house to put her down because I was in no shape to drive and had no one to take me anywhere. He was so caring and sympathetic and took her little body away to be cremated to save me that task. Few would do that. He will be sorely missed.
