“ I didnt know TC very well but he was a friend of my son and great young man. My condolences and heart go out to his family and will continue to keep them all in my prayers. I know he is and always will be truly missed, and know he can watch over all of us from his mansion in the sky! I pray for God to give his family the strength to get through this, and remember that he wil always be with you!

“ We have loved you from the very moment we laid our eyes on you and will continue to love you until the last beats of our hearts. You were our first grandchild... our "sunshine" and I don't begin to know how we will go on without you. Being your Mema and Pawpaw has been one of the greatest privileges of our lives. Rest well until we can wrap our arms around you again.

“ This sweet boy was mine for a year back in 2009-2010. He was in my 4th grade class. He was such a stinker and had the cutest little sly smile. He was very smart although he didn't want anybody to know (sorry, buddy I had to tell them). He had the whole world ahead of him. I pray for his family and I pray he knew my Heavenly Father. Love you sweet boy, Ms. Grant

TP

T.C. was a born-again Christian and is currently in the arms of our Lord. That is the only comfort for the unbearable pain in my completely broken heart. Thank you so much for your sweet comments and prayers. He was crazy about you and loved his time in your class.
