“Zaleigh was a typical child. She was shy and didn't say a lot until she got to know you. Then she was funny, happy and a regular little girl. She grew into a teenager with the kindness soul. She loved and loved unconditionally. She was beautiful inside and out. She did typical teenage things. She didn't do a lot of things she wasn't suppose to. Not sure if she didn't do a lot of wrong or if she was so good she didn't get caught. Lol I remember when she met Nate. Oh he was the best thing ever. And she feels in love. Unconditionally she feels completely in love with him. He was hers and she wouldn't take no as an option. It was amazing watching her grow from a little girl into a teenager to a young woman in love. I cherish those memories now. I keep thinking she was taken from us before her time. But it was her time. And it was Gods time. It just ocured to me tonight she was taken at the right time, not before her time. For it was Gods time for her to leave this world. We will never really understand why it was her time to leave us behind but I do believe it was the right time. Gods time. I have the memories that comfort me somewhat.... But we loved you Zaleigh... Unconditionally... You were a part of our family... A daughter, a sister and a niece. We will celebrate your life with years in our eyes. But we will celebrate your life unconditionally. One day we will meet again. But until we do.. RIP Zaleigh and fly high with your new wings. For you are an angel now and an angel is how I will always remember you as. I love you Zaleigh... And I have memories of you growing up to last me... till we meet again.

“ I had been trying to get ahold of Zaleigh over the last few days. She had ordered a cake from me to bring to the guys at Jimmy Britt's in the service department. She wanted to celebrate them for having such a great quarter. I wanted to deliver the cake today so I tried calling again. When I couldn't reach her, I thought there may have been a problem with her phone so I called to see if I could reach her at work. What a shock to find out she was no longer there. In her memory, I took the cake anyway. So sweet to know that she thought of others so generously and I wanted you to know this was one of her last acts of service.

“ To the family, I don't know ya'll and I know that ya'll don't know me. Ever since the accident happened my heart has felt so broken for your family. I have been praying everyday for your family. I pray God will wrap his loving arms around each of you, and give you the comfort that he can only give. May he give that special strength for you to go on. I will hold you all in my heart and will continue to pray for you all. Vickey Bloodworth Milledgeville.
